FIFTY-THIRD YEAR

EXPECTS WAR WITH MEXICO

WILSON BELIEVES REPLY TO NOTE WILL PRECIPITATE TROUBLE

2 MEXICAN GOVERNORS DECLARE WAR U. S. AND MEXICO MOBILIZING ALL AVAILABLE TROOPS ON BORDER, READY FOR EVENTUALITIES

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Wilson and his advisors expect hostilities after the note reaches Carranza refusing to recall United States troops. The note will be forwarded tomorrow to Mexican Ambassador Arredondo. A hundred thousand guardsmen are mobilizing. Mexican feeling is inflamed and Carranza is apparently sanctioning it. Worry is felt for the 5,000 Americans in Mexico. The navy guard colony near Tampico plans to rush an expedition to Mexico City. In refusing to withdraw the troops the United States reaffirms the friendly intention of the United States toward the de facto government of Mexico and sharply rebukes General Carranza for unwarranted charges and insinuations of bad faith contained in his communication. President Wilson's firm resolve to keep the armed forces of the United States in Mexico until such time as the Mexican government polices the border region so thoroughly that bandit raids into American territory are improbable is understood to be clearly stated in the note.

CARRANZA INTENDS TO FORCE THE ISSUE

MEXICO CITY, June 19.—Carranza tonight reiterated his declaration that any movements of American troops, except northward, would be considered hostile and his commanders had been ordered to repel them, if made. The streets and public squares were thronged tonight with patriotic paraders who marched to the public offices headed by hands and wearing emblems evidencing their willingness to defend their country in case of war. Ten thousand were addressed by Carranza and Obregon. Carranza said he was not seeking war but would not avoid it at the cost of dignity.

Bluejackets Clash With Carranzistas

MEXICANS OPEN FIRE ON SAILORS AT MAZATLAN AND FIGHT FOLLOWS; ALL AMERICANS ARE ADVISED TO LEAVE.

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, June 19.—An ultimatum amounting to a declaration of war was served on Commander Carranza of the gunboat Annapolis by Flores, Carranza governor of the State of Sonora, according to a telegram from Mazatlan. Flores' refusal to permit Americans to leave Mazatlan resulted in a clash Sunday between bluejackets and Mexicans, characterized as Carranza soldiers. All Americans were advised to leave immediately.

When a boat from the Annapolis approached the wharf at Mazatlan the Mexicans opened fire. The Americans returned the fire and six Mexicans were killed or wounded. Ensign Kessing and Paymaster Mowat were taken prisoners by the Mexicans but released later.

The Mexican report says the men landed at Mazatlan were marines, but as the gunboat Annapolis, the only ship known to be there, has no marines aboard, it was presumed that bluejackets were involved. The Mexican report told this story:

"A boat from the warship approached a Mazatlan wharf and was warned to keep off until permission to land could be obtained from the military authorities. It went back to the ship and several hours later returned with its crew armed. The officer in command was told permission for landing had not been given and an argument ensued.

"A crowd of soldiers and civilians had gathered on the wharf and in the midst of the discussion a drunken Japanese fired a shot at the Americans, who promptly replied with a volley into the crowd.

"Carranza soldiers returned the fire and the boat withdrew, leaving behind two officers who were arrested. Explanations were exchanged by the commander of the warship and the Carranza general and the American officers were released."

According to the Mexican version, confusion followed an attempt to land marines from a warship. The embassy presented a report from the military commander at Mazatlan, General Moxto, telling of the incident accompanied by instructions from the Mexico City foreign office urging that the Americans be kept aboard.

Pending advices from Funston, Pershing gave no orders until late yesterday. The movement is a minor one. It is not believed that Trevino will make it an excuse for attacking the American detachments. A motor train two miles long left here today carrying food and ammunition to the front. It is the largest shipment since the Americans crossed the border.
